Australia: Concern over plantations swept under the carpet by environmental movement