Women fighting against extractive industries