The exponential absurdity of the carbon sink approach to climate change